A warm hello to our new subscribers. Thank you for signing up. This newsletter is our way of alerting you to recent stories posted on our website, WomenRidersNow.com (WRN).

I've been a moto fanatic and fortunate to work in the motorcycle industry for almost 20 years. My moto-obsession was originally fueled by my father, shown in this photo with me on a charity ride in 2008. I was a young teenager when he brought home a used Honda CB750. I couldn't get enough rides from him and when he wasn't home I'd sneak into the garage and sit on the bike, dreaming of the day when I could ride one myself.

Dad just returned from an epic month-long retirement trip on his Harley-Davidson CVO Ultra with his brother alongside on his own Ultra. I'm both envious and elated that they were able to take such an amazing journey together. Spending August exploring North America including Glacier National Park, Yellowstone National Park, the Oregon coast, and so many more "bucket list" destinations was Dad's dream come true. I followed their explorations via nightly Facebook posts. God willing, I hope to repeat it one day on my motorcycle.

I do enjoy living vicariously through friends' two-wheeled adventures. I invite you to browse through our fantastic reader-submitted stories at WomenRidersNow.com. You'll find stories from women who learned to ride later in life to far away women's moto adventures. This month we are featuring a vibrant "Lady in Red," Marilyn DeMartini, who traded in her black leather and Harley-Davidson bagger for a bright red Indian Chieftain.

If you've got a great story of your own to share, please send it to us with some great photos to Info@WomenRidersNow.com. You can find our submission guidelines here.

I hope to see you all down the road.

Ride safely and with love,

Tricia Szulewski | Associate Editor, WomenRidersNow.com

From Harley Chick to Indian Motorcycle Chieftain Rider

Starting a love affair with motorcycling on a Harley, then trading to an Indian

WRN reader, Marilyn DeMartini, a self-described “Harley Biker Chick,” rode the bike, wore the clothes, belonged to HOG, and bought into the brand. She loved black leather, the rumble of pipes, and the chortle of a carbureted engine. She wanted more of the same—in a big bagger. READ HER STORY
